“THE F WORD”

RECLAIMING FEMINISM

Feminism is nothing new – women have been fighting for equity and equality for centuries. In the 21st century we must evolve to be more intersectional. We have to better understand one another and appreciate that people's identities overlap. Historically, feminism has been known to exclude some, ignore others, and even narrow its focus on breaking the glass ceiling, equal pay, and legal rights. While these are important issues that need resolution, many women struggle to be seen and acknowledged due to the systemic hardships that impact them daily.

Feminism today, illuminates the connectivity among people and the collective effort for equity. It shows us that equity means challenging gender injustices, eliminating gender oppression, and solving the overlapping forms of discrimination. Equity also means engaging more women, including gender-expansive people, and bringing men along on the journey.

We stand in solidarity while creating the future we all want – now.

The F Word: Reclaiming Feminism is an event that shines a light on the complexities of feminism while creating room for conversation – and even a little laughter. It is an opportunity to reflect on who we are as feminists and talk about how we can further gender parity to make feminism more inclusive in Greater Milwaukee.
